TORONTO TIDINGS

Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Grooms and family motored out and spent Sunday, October 19th, with relatives and friends in Oshawa and Hampton, after the meeting in Oshawa.

Miss Carrie Buchan and Messrs. Frank Pierce, W. W. Scott and George Hunter, were among those from this city, who went up and took part in the D. A. D. social in Detroit, on October 18th, and report a large attendance and good time. Miss Buchan also had the opportunity to visit her sister, Mrs. John E. Crough, of Walkerville, while in the Border cities.

Mrs. Henry Moore and Mrs. Mabel Wilson are away visiting relatives and friends in Brantford and Simcoe, at time of writing.

Miss Evelyn Durant was up visiting her home folks in Guelph over the week-end of October 11th, and had a fine time.

We regret to say that Mr. Ernest Hagerman is very ill at the Western Hospital, and his case is very grave, at time of writing. He originally came from the Maritime Provinces.

Miss Florence Bagby, in company with her brothers, Fred and Joseph, motored up and spent the week-end of October 11th with their parents in Burk's Falls. The Bagby brothers are still working in this city.

Mr. Herbert Fountain is in the city, at time of writing, and expects to resume his former duties at the Sunco Manufacturing Co. He has been helping his mother at Gelert all summer, following the recent death of his father.

The largest crowd that has yet turned out to our Bible Class, so far this season, gathered at our church on October 22d, when the Rev. Harold Clugston, M.A., entertained all with one of the best discourses, he has yet given us. Rev. Mr. Clugston has promised to come and give us more understanding on His word. His wife, who is also a fluent speaker, is coming too.

Mr. J. R. Byrne was brought home from the hospital on October 23d, where he underwent a serious operation. We are pleased to say he is making satisfactory progress.

The Women's Association of the Donlands Avenue United Church, invited our Women's Association to a hot dinner service on October 22d, and several of our friends were there with Mrs. Byrne as interpreter.

On October 18th last, H. W. Roberts passed the twenty-fifth milestone of his entry into the postal service of Canada, being the first deaf person to join His Majesty's service of this branch in this country. The date was also the natal day of Mrs. Roberts. They observed this double event by attending the social at Waterloo.

Mrs. Arthur Bowen and her two daughters, Esther and Margaret, attended the funeral of her mother and their grandmother in Cookstown, on October 23d. Mr. and Mrs. S. Averall also came down from that place, and followed the remains of the former's mother back to its last resting place.

It was a shock to their many friends everywhere, when the news was received of the death of Mrs. John Averall, the ninety-six-year-old and beloved mother of Mrs. Arthur Bowen, of this city, and of Mr. Samuel Averall, of Cookstown, who crossed the shining portals into the outstretched arms of her Saviour, at the home of her granddaughters, the Misses L. A. and E. Everall, at 35 Alexandria Boulevard, in this city, on October 21st. In spite of her great age, she had retained all her faculties to the end. For over half a century she and her late husband, who preceded her nineteen years ago, had lived on their old homestead near Newton Robinson, not far from Cookstown, where ten children came to bless their home, including our two friends, Samuel and Mrs. Bowen. Several years ago, the deceased met with a severe accident, when she fell down a flight of stairs, with the result that she was permanently injured. Making her home in this city, since then, she was a devoted Christian and loving mother, full of honors as of years. Her remains were conveyed by motor to Cookstown on October 23d, and interred at Wilson's Hill Cemetery. The funeral was very largely attended. Our deepest sympathy goes out to the bereaved family and relatives in their heavy loss.

Mrs. John Buchan and son left by bus on October 24th, to spend that week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Ligar Ball in Baltimore, seven miles north of Cobourg. Mr. Buchan and Mr. Charles McLaughlin motored down there on October 26th, and the whole family returned home together, after attending the meeting there, which Mr. Walter Bell, of Oshawa, conducted.

Mr. W. R. Watt resumed his duties on October 25th, after a week's vacation, due to stock-taking. In the meantime, they visited friends in Long Branch and elsewhere.

A re-organization meeting of the Bridgen Literary Society was held on October 16th, with a fair turnout. A review of the past season showed the society to be in a flourishing condition, financially, in fact, so that it was able to donate sixty dollars to our mother church and leaving a very healthy nest egg to begin with the coming season. Mr. Colin McLean was unanimously chosen president to succeed F. E. Harris, the retiring president, while our jolly Ernest Hackbush was again re-elected secretary-treasurer. A suggestion was made to drop the title of "Literary," but the old name of the Bridgen Literary Society was adhered to. It will now meet every other Friday evening except on special occasions.

WATERLOO WEB BITS

As his time limit has expired for his sojourn in Canada, Mr. Albert Siess has departed for his home in Pontiac, Mich.

We are so pleased to report, at time of writing, that our good friend, the Rev. Seaton Adamson, who underwent a very critical operation at the Kitchener-Waterloo Hospital a short time ago, is improving nicely and now able to be removed to his home. He was most instrumental in obtaining the free use of the Seagram Memorial Hall for our grand social held there on October 18th.

On October 12th, Mr. Gregory Meyer, accompanied by his son, Gordon, and John Boyle motored over to the Moynihans and invited them to go for a ride out to St. Clements to see John Voisin, who has been working on his step-brother's farm for the past eleven years, and all had a nice time together.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Patterson and daughter, and Mr. Walter Patterson, all of Galt, motored up and gave the Moynihans a pleasant call the other evening.

Miss Mary Bull, of Bloomingdale, our former and beloved teacher, was away to Tavistock for a week lately, attending the funeral of a niece.

Mrs. Ida Cherry Robertson, of Preston, was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. N. Black for a few days following the social.

Mr. Charles Golds, Jr., who came up from Toronto for the big social, remained over with his parents in Kitchener, and is trying to secure a position here.

Our service on Sunday, October 19th, was conducted by Mr. H. W. Roberts, of Toronto, who took for his subject "The Last Call." It was a fine address, and attended by the largest gathering ever held here. Quite a number of our friends, who could not get away for the social the previous evening, came in to swell the attendance. A duet, entitled "Praise Ye, the Lord, Raise up thy voice with Singing," was charmingly rendered by Mesdames H. Whealy and H. W. Robert, of Toronto, that was a treat, and at the close Mrs. Whealy gracefully rendered "Abide With Me."

A JOLLY EVENT

A few months ago, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Moynihan, of Waterloo, decided to get up a "Hard Times Social" for October 18th, and at once started the ball rolling. In their venture they had the approval and sympathy of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Martin, of that city, and Mr. and Mrs. Newton Black, of Kitchener, and others. As time wore on the project began to assume greater activity, though many obstructions of various kinds loomed in their way, yet this faithful band could not daunted, especially the Moynihans, who on noticing that it would be country wide in scope, enlisted the aid of the DEAF MUTES' JOURNAL, and are grateful to that paper for its good service. Mr. and Mrs. Moynihan were very optimistic throughout the preparation period, and are now receiving the congratulations of all on their arduous yet very successful task.

SOCIAL SIFTINGS

Mr. and Mrs. George Brethour, along with Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Roberts, Mrs. Henry Whealy and Miss Ethel Griffith, all of Toronto, motored up Saturday afternoon. Miss Griffith went on from there to Stratford by bus to visit the Quinlans, while the rest were most hospitably entertained by Mr. and Mrs. John A. Moynihan at their cosy home in Waterloo. All returned to Toronto, after the service on Sunday. Mr. Brethour is a very careful driver.

Mesdames Whealy and Brethour, who had not seen Mrs. Jonathan Underwood since they were at school together over thirty years ago, were so delighted to meet her once more, as well as her husband and talented daughter, Mrs. Underwood was formerly Miss Catherine Schwartzentruber, of Petersburg.

Miss Ruth Nahrgang, only child of Mr. and Mrs. Isiah Nahrgang, of Speedville, spent that week-end with relatives and friends in Toronto. Ruth is now working in Kitchener, and is a very accomplished and devoted young lady, and often interprets for the deaf.

That ingenious Spanish game, introduced by Mrs. J. A. Moynihan, was not only a novelty, but laugh provoking as well. Mesdames Newton Black and Henry Whealy and Eddie Fishbein won the prizes.

There was more eatable goods provided for all than could be consumed, but by wise judgment on the part of Mrs. Moynihan, the surplus was carefully packed up and left at the church with directions for the Women's Association to give it away to the poor and needy.

How pleased were all to greet their old friend, Mrs. Ida Cherry Robertson, of Preston, and we were greatly pleased to see how well she looked.

That carload from Hamilton were certainly a jolly bunch. Mr. Thomas Hacking brought the whole crowd up in his parents' car, and returned with the same good-natured pleasure revelers, who greatly helped to enliven the time.

The Misses Gladys Hannaberg and Barbara Dickson took the names and addresses of all who came, and by actual count there were seventy-one present. These intelligent young maidens, nearing their sweet sixteen, rendered much service in many ways, that was greatly appreciated.

Mr. and Mrs. John Fisher, of London, were on the way to the social, when the latter was suddenly seized with great pain in her side, and they had to abandon the trip and return home.

Owing to illness in their family, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Cowan, of London, sent their regrets at being unable to come, but wished the social every success. Many similar messages were also received from other sources.

We regret the Rev. Seaton Adamson was not able to be with us, on account of a recent operation, but he was well remembered. Mr. Jones, warden of the hall, however, came in and showed us through the beautiful church adjoining, which all appreciated. On the suggestion of Miss Louisa Forsythe, all formed in line and passed Mr. Jones, shaking hands as they went, with Mr. Roberts introducing their names.

Among the large crowd present we noticed Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Waggoner, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Hacking, and Messrs. John Moreland, John Richardson and Wm. Tait, all of Hamilton; Mr. and Mrs. George Brethour, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. James Tate, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Golds, Jr., and Mrs. Henry Whealy, all of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Ben. Cone, Miss Iva Hughes and Mr. Charles A. Ryan, all of Woodstock; Mr. and Mrs. William Hagen, Mr. and Mrs. Newton Black, Gordon Meyer, Bert Hagen, Bobby Golds, Allan Nahrgang, T. S. and Miss Edna Williams, all of Kitchener; Mr. and Mrs. John A. Moynihan, Miss Gladys Hannaberg, Miss Barbara Dickson, Mr. and Mrs. Absalom Martin, all of Waterloo; Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Patterson and Walter Patterson, of Galt; Messrs. Norman Eickmeyer and Walter Wagester, of Stratford; Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan Underwood and Miss Dorothy Underwood, of Petersburg;

Miss Ida C. Robertson, of Preston; Mr. and Mrs. George Bassler, of Hesson; Miss Louisa Forsythe, of St. George; Mr. James Goodbrand, of Paris; Mr. and Mrs. John Forsythe, of Elmira; William J. Miller, of Tavistock; Mr. John Voisin, of St. Clements; Mr. Edward Paul, of St. Thomas; Messrs. George Pepper and Eddie Fishbein, of London; John Boyle, of Waldemar; Merton McMurray, of Thamesford; Miss Marie Smith, of Milton, and others.

MONTREAL MENTIONS

The Montreal Association of the Deaf opened its season for the coming fall and winter months, on October 18th, at its old headquarters in the Mount Royal Hotel, with a most promising attendance, though all the members were not on hand then. Everything went on smoothly and prospects for the future are very bright. One thing that pleased us was to greet many old and familiar faces and acquaint ourselves with many new ones, who intend joining our association. Mr. A. Stanley Walker, the genial president, was in the chair, and R. G. Garner, the hustling secretary was never so energetic. W. Dickson and Harry Armstrong, vice-president and treasurer, respectively, were also on hand ready to do their bit. The re-opening ceremonies were merely of an informal nature, as there will be more important routine on the first of November, when they hold elections for the various offices.

Ever since he returned from his glorious trip to Ontario and through the eastern part of the United States, Mr. Reginald Garner has been remarking on the great time he had. His friends consider him very lucky, inasmuch as he is able to travel at random without a matrimonial halter around his neck to hinder him.

BRIGHTON BRIGHTLIGHTS

We understand that Mrs. Hartley J. Head, of Picton, in order to while away her idle hours, has obtained a position in the Picton Seed factory at good pay. This position is open from August to January every year. Mrs. E. J. Brooks would like to join her in the same place if she could get away.

Miss Lean Shannon has obtained a good situation with the Brighton Tailoring Co., and we wish her every success. She and Mrs. E. J. Brooks are often in each other's company.

Miss Reta Lott, of Oshawa, was a guest of Miss Lena Shannon over the week-end of October 11th, and the two gave Mrs. E. J. Brooks a surprise yet pleasant call. Mrs. Brooks had not seen Reta for over six years, so found her much changed.

Mr. and Mrs. Angus McKenzie, of Belleville, spent October 12th very nicely with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Waldron in Trenton.

Mr. E. J. Brooks was obliged to take to his bed for a week lately, owing to excruciating pain in both sides of his body under the arms, but with good care taken by his wife he is now up and around again we are pleased to say.

On October 7th, Mr. Thomas Croan, of Kendal, called to see Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Brooks for a brief while, and then went down to Napanee to visit Mr. and Mrs. James Hartwick for a few days, before going to Smith's Falls to see his mother.

As the canning factories of this town have shut down for the winter, Mr. Maxwell McGregor has been laid off. After making calls on the Parkers in Cobourg, and friends in Kendall, left for a visit to Napanee.

While here recently, Mr. Thomas Croan informed us that his wife and daughter were doing very well and that his wife's deaf sister, Miss Blanche Sager, formerly, of Deseronto, is now living with her parents in Kendall, and would like to meet any of her old schoolmates.

On October 5th, Mr. Thomas Dand, of Belleville motored up in his new car, and picking Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Brooks and Miss Lena Shannon continued on to the Parker home in Cobourg, where they all had dinner. Afterwards all went over to Mr. and Mrs. Ligar Ball's in Baltimore, and were surprised to find a large bunch of the deaf there, including the Gerows, of Peterboro, Messrs. Joseph and Alex. White and their two sisters, Margaret and Julia, all of Bewdley, Mrs. Ball's two sisters and brother, also a niece and friend, all from Dunnville, and a very pleasant time had they all.

WYOMING WAVES

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Welch and two children spent October 15th very pleasantly with the Wark family, returning to Oil City late in the evening. Mr. and Mrs. John Mackie, of Dresden, were visiting in Detroit for several days, in the middle of November, and had a very delightful time. They took in several gatherings of the deaf there.

The recent sudden change in weather conditions, from balmy Indian summer to winter's frigid blast, had the effect of laying up several of the deaf here with colds and other ailments, but "all's well on deck again."

Miss Edith Squires, of Petrolea, came over on October 18th, and spent that week-end with Miss Jean Wark, and accompanied the Wark family to the Elliott meeting in Sarnia that Sunday.

SARNIA SAYINGS

We are pleased to see Mrs. Jontie Henderson around again, after being laid up for over a week. She had hardly got over, when Mr. Henderson and Mrs. Leitch were also laid hors de combat. However, all are better now.

We were pleased to see Mr. Samuel Pugsley, of Brigidon, at the Elliott meeting on October 19th. He is looking real well.

Mr. Charles A. Elliott, of Toronto, came up on October 18th, and remained over night at the Hendersons, next day conducted the last service we will hold here until next May. Although he gave a splendid sermon, the attendance was far below normal.

Mr. Eric Wark, of Wyoming, intends taking business courses twice a week at the night schools here, this fall and coming winter. By the way we may expect members of the Wark family to accompany him and visit us while Eric is at his studies.

Mr. Jontie Henderson was out doing carpentering and painting work for Dr. McMillan, M.P.P., lately, and Jontie was warmly complimented upon his proficient workmanship. The Dr. is now recommending Jontie to all his friends who need such work done.

NIAGARA FALLS NEWS

Miss Sylvia Caswell and her sister, Mrs. Harris, of St. Catharines, motored down to Toronto, on October 20th, on a shopping errand.

Mr. George Bell, of St. Thomas, motored down and spent the week-end of October 19th with friends here and in Stamford. His trips down this way are now on the wane, you know why.

Miss Helen A. Middleton was among those who attended a grand surprise "bridal shower" for Miss Sylvia Caswell on October 24th, and the then bride-to-be was very well remembered on this occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Aldcorn, of Corbetton (nee Isabel Sherritt), spent part of their honeymoon down this way, and gave their old friend, Miss Helen A. Middleton a pleasant call. We wish this young couple every happiness.

BRANTFORD BULLETINS

We are pleased to note that Mr. Howard J. Lloyd is able to be out again, and we trust he will soon regain his normal self once more.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Thomas, of Oakville, were the guests of Miss Louisa Forsythe, in St. George, for a week lately.

Mr. Edward Fishbein, of London, accompanied by Mr. Charles A. Ryan, Mr. and Mrs. Ben. Cone and Miss Iva Hughes, all of Woodstock, were in this city, on October 19th, to see Mr. Howard J. Lloyd.

Mr. Bamber Brown, of the Varity Plow Co., Ltd., has been retired on a pension after twenty-five years of faithful service.

We understand that Mr. James Goodbrand, of Paris, lost about forty chickens recently, believed to have been stolen by chicken coop raiders.

Owing to his recent indisposition through an operation, Mr. Howard J. Lloyd was unable to go and conduct the service in London, on October 26th, but hopes to keep his engagement for Hamilton on November 23d.

GENERAL GLEANINGS

Mrs. Culver Bowlby, with her daughter, and son-in-law, of Simcoe, were in London, on October 20th, on pleasure and business.

While out visiting her mother near Woodbridge recently, Mrs. H. W.

Roberts, of Toronto, happened to meet the Rev. Mr. Robertson, of Bolton, who can converse in our language, as he has a deaf uncle in Scotland, whose name the writer failed to obtain. Mr. Robertson is well acquainted with Miss Madeline Elliott, of Bolton, and has much sympathy for her in her crippled condition.

Mr. John Taylor, of Singhampton, with his brother, William, motored up and attended the Markdale. Fair the other day, and was delighted to meet our friend, Mr. T. Herbert Brown, on the grounds, but sorry he did not see Herbert's sister, Alma, though she was in the great throng.

HERBERT W. ROBERTS.

Wilkinsburg, Pa.

The Friend farm up in Butler County is still in the limelight as far as autumnal thrill seekers are concerned. It seems the Friends entertain parties of autoists each Saturday or Sunday regularly. The following parties from the neighborhood of New Castle and Ellwood City were their guests Saturday, October 11th, and made things merry for the lonely farmer-family:—

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Cowlay, who by the way, own and manage a farm near New Castle; Mr. and Mrs. Audley Pitzer, Mr. and Mrs. McManima, Herman Bookamer, George Burns, Mr. and Mrs. Speerhas, George Weaver, Miss Lois Butler and Louis Mickum, of Ellwood City; Mr. Breckenridge, Alfred Cartwright and Frank Frank Shaffer, of Midway. This was quite a party made up from far-flung points. This party brought their own refreshments, and kept up a pleasant entertainment until the "wee sma' hours" Sunday morning.

Sunday, October 19th, Mr. Dan Irvin conducted a party consisting of Mrs. Rolshouse, Miss Meyers, Mr. Grimm and Mr. Sawhill, over one of the advertised auto outing routes from Pittsburg, around through eastern Ohio to New Castle, thence to the Friend farm, where they settled down for a few hours of country cheer and entertainment. Now if this sort of reports keep coming in, we, sure, will catch the fever. If that should happen, it would be a desperate case, for we have no auto to relieve the longing for farm thrills. That means the picking of fine fruits and the luscious pumpkin.

Mr. William Gorsuch, of Beaver, mourns the loss of his mother, who died October 10th. The death of Mrs. Gorsuch recalls our days of bicycle journeyings, long ago before the rushing auto appropriated the roads. A party of us old timers rode our bikes to Beaver and beyond, and the Gorsuchs and the Judds entertained the party royally, indeed.

Charles Reiser, it is said, has been in a hospital for two weeks, on account of intestinal troubles, which it is feared will necessitate an operation.

Mr. Reiser has been an employee at the Switch and Signal works at Swissvale for many years, and is in line for a pension, should he be unable to return to work. We hope he soon recovers.

Sunday, October 12th, the Blackhalls and the Leitners, in the former's machine, drove up to the Friend farm just to remind the farmers that their birthdays were not forgotten, because of the distance from their friends around Wilkinsburg. Friday before was Mrs. Friend's natal day, and the next Tuesday was Mr. Friend's ditto. More evidence in spite of distance the farmer folk are still near in the hearts of their friends.

October 11th was the Local Branch, P. S. A. D., day at St. Peter's Parish house, with an entertainment for the benefit of the Torresdale Home fund, it being donation day. Aside from personal collections, canvassed by Mr. Teitelbaum, the meeting netted eighteen dollars. Mr. Teitelbaum announced that his collection was not completed, but so far contributions already in hand were encouraging for a large amount to be announced later. Among the out-of-town visitors at this meeting was Miss Jean Saunders, of McKeesport, and her visiting guest, Miss Alice Consider, of Meadville.

To open the meeting, Mr. Connor and Mr. Rogalsky gave a brief account of the P. S. A. D. meeting at Hazelton, stressing that part concerning donations and bequests to the Home. Their report resulted in considerable free individual discussion concerning the support of the Home.

Mrs. Charles Myles, of Homestead, was present at the meeting, and told of the marriage that evening of her daughter, Gladys, of Beverly Hills, Cal., to Mr. John Marks, of Los Angeles. After a brief honeymoon at Lake Arrow Head the young couple will set their lars and penates in Los Angeles. The Myles' other daughter, Jean, is now Mrs. William E. Johnson, and lives in Dumont, N. J.

Thomas Sarver, of Brushton, is still in quest of a job, but with poor prospects of securing anything right now, when there are so many men unemployed in the city. He is busy just now, however, painting and making improvements in his own domo, while his wife and young son are visiting at their old home in the country.

Saturday evening, October 18th, there was a social entertainment at the W. S. C. rooms, engineered by Mr. and Mrs. Krotzer, for the benefit of improvements of the club rooms. Various games, cards and billiards, were indulged in by the considerable crowd present. Among those present at this entertainment were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Andrewjeski and Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Phillips, of Akron, guests of the Sawhills over the week-end. Mr. Charles Cosgrove, of Philadelphia, was also present and making himself at home. He is at present living with an uncle in Oakmont, and expects to be there for some time, at least until working conditions pick up in Philadelphia, where he held a position at the Ford plant in that place.

Mr. R. N. Marshall, formerly of Vandergriff, now of Parkersburg, W. Va., was also a visitor at the club where he held membership a year or two ago. He came in from Washington, where he had been on business. He reports times as are hard around Parkersburg as anywhere else now, so he has been idle most of the time, and no signs of improvement in sight.

A Halloween party is being talked of at the club, but nothing as yet definitely decided on. Likely it will all go by the board, if the kiddies in our large family will give consent, which is unlikely.

The Silver Screen Coming Back

Says the Columbus Dispatch of a recent date editorially:—

Motion picture producers are said to be including a limited number of silent films in their production schedules for next year. Demand for this form of picture, voiced in several sections of the country and the success attending the re-issuing of some of the big hits of the past, are said to have set Hollywood to thinking. There is a lurking suspicion that the silent film is not definitely dead after all.

While there seems little doubt that the talking picture is "here to stay," as the saying goes, there are certain branches of the film producer's art that, it seems, can best be served by the silent variety. This fact is driven home particularly by recent talking films made by famous comedians who have gained world wide recognition because of their exquisite pantomime.

Frankly, such entertainers as Laurel and Hardy, Buster Keaton, Harry Langdon and others, were far funnier when they were dumb. It is likely that every admirer of these players had formed a mental conception of them which is blasted when their voices are heard. Furthermore, Hollywood appears unable to supply them with dialogue material that can approach the rib-tickling qualities of their pantomime. The real laugh in these films seem still to lie in the moments of silent action.

Pantomime has existed for centuries as a branch of theatrical entertainment. The screen is a perfect medium for it. Why should not it be preserved for the masters of the art, who are at their best when silent? Musical scores and sound effects with a few characters talking would be acceptable, if the producers simply must use the microphone. But please, Hollywood, keep our great pantomime artists dumb. And may heaven guide Charlie Chaplin. —Ohio Chronicle.

A Silent Movie

THERE is good news for the deaf—and for a considerable proportion of the hearing—that a real movie is soon to be exhibited, where action on the screen interprets itself—as the "talkies" do not. In most of the films now shown, action on the screen has been reduced to the minimum, and emphasis put upon the sound, so that people who are deaf cannot enjoy the play or drama, or whatever you like to call it. The totally deaf are much more entertained by the "talkies" than the hard-of-hearing, because every little action is noticed by them. Still, without sub-titles they get only a confused idea of what the play is about.

The Evening World carried a special dispatch from Hollywood about Charles Chaplin's coming movie, "City Lights," which in part reads:—

"Independent production is at a standstill in Hollywood. The small producers—the remainder of that poverty row which once was such a feature of the gelatine village and such a fertile source of its romance—are awaiting the release of the Charles Chaplin film, "City Lights," before they invest their all in any more talkies.

"It's a queer situation. The first Chaplin silent released after this long period of talking pictures is bound to have maximum attendance.

"All those who have been adherents of silent technique will flock to their beloved silent films with loud huzzahs. "The adherents of talkies will go also. They will want to see what their reaction to a silent picture will be. They will want to convince themselves that even a Chaplin will be better with dialogue. Or they will go to see Charles Chaplin anyway, dialogue or not."

RONALD BOTHNER, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bothner, a detective connected with the New York Police Department, has again come into the limelight of public praise for his fearless capture of one of the two bandits that held up and robbed the proprietor of a tailoring establishment in the Borough of Bronx.

Sighting two of the hold-up men fleeing from the scene of their crime, Bothner jumped from his car and gave chase. As usual, the robbers separated, and Bothner followed and captured one of them, the chase leading over backyard fences. As the desperado refused to halt when commanded, Detective Bothner being obliged to shoot, fired at his legs and wounded the bandit, but he kept on, until a second shot brought him down with an extra bullet in his thigh. Weakened by loss of blood, he surrendered and had to be helped by the detective to a hospital, where he is now, under guard, being treated for his wounds. It was discovered that only a month ago he had been released from prison, and Detective Bothner is receiving plenty of commendation for his alert bravery in the line of duty. This is the second instance of Detective Bothner's watchfulness and worth, the previous instance, which earned his promotion from the ranks, was the unaided capture of one of these enemies of society, when off duty. "A wheel, afoot, ahorse, the force are soldiers all the time."

Detective Bothner's parents are both deaf-mutes, and he is familiar with the alphabet and sign-language. They are receiving congratulations from many of the deaf who knew the officer as a child and saw him grow and develop into wide-awake, intelligent and forceful manhood.

Los Angeles, Cal.

Los Angeles Silent Club at the meeting October 11th, fixed the price of admission to visitors at twenty-five cents, except in cases where the price is fixed by a committee in charge of some special entertainment. An interesting new game, "A Harvest Salmagundi," was played, in charge of W. H. Rothert. October 18th was "Movie Nite," and the thrilling and sensational picture, "The Donovan Affair," was enjoyed by a big crowd. Superintendent E. McK. Goodwin, of the North Carolina school continued on to California, after the conference at Colorado Springs. His stay in Los Angeles was very short. While visiting the Los Angeles Oral School he met Mrs. Beth Thompson Gesner, a teacher there, and he was surprised to learn that several of his former pupils were living here. Mrs. Gesner was able to reach some of them by telephone and they called on Superintendent Goodwin that evening at the Alexandria Hotel. Former pupils of his at the Iowa school who called were Mesdames Estella Thompson and Augusta Barrett and W. H. Rothert, and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bingham, who had been his pupils at the North Carolina school. Mesdames Rothert and Gesner and J. W. Barrett also were there. Mr. Barrett had been a fellow teacher of Mr. Goodwin's at the Iowa school. They had a pleasant visit with him, all regretting he was to leave the following morning, as his plans were all made before he visited the oral school.

Mrs. Phil Reilly is one of the expert deaf lady drivers of Los Angeles. On a beautiful day recently Mrs. Reilly, Mrs. L. H. Wilder and little son, and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Barrett went to San Gabriel in the Reilly's car to visit Mr. and Mrs. Chester L. Higby on their chicken ranch, taking a well-filled lunch basket with them, intending to picnic somewhere. The Higbys did not know of the impending visitation, but through instinct or telepathy (or what have you) Mrs. Higby had that very morning prepared a platter of golden brown fried chicken. The party asked for permission to make their coffee on her range, then they were invited to spread their lunch in the dining room and share the fried chicken! Needless to say they were hungry after the ride of about eighteen miles. The Higbys are taking care of the small ranch of a neighbor who had gone East, which adjoins their own ranch, where Mr. Higby's parents remained. After lunch and inspecting the fruit and chickens and getting big bunches of chrysanthemums, they all went to the larger ranch nearby and called on the elder Higbys.

Here they saw many pens of white Plymouth Rock chickens separated according to ages. Then they drove on a few miles to West Arcadia and called on Henry Miller, who comes often to the Los Angeles Silent Club. He lives with his mother and sister, but their ranch is for sale and when sold the family will return to Santa Barbara, which they left after the earthquake some years ago. Henry Miller and Mrs. Reilly had been schoolmates in an oral school in Chicago. The party then returned to the Higby ranch and after thanking their hosts for their kindness, they started for home early so as to avoid the heavy traffic of the late afternoon. We almost forgot to mention that Mr. Higby is a product of the Nebraska school, and his wife was the former Miss Lillie McMeans, educated at the New Mexico school.

Good news! At last Albert Ballin's long heralded book, "The Deaf-Mute Howls," is in the hands of the publishers, The Grafton Publishing Company, of Los Angeles. Mr. Edward L. Grafton, head of the company himself read and edited the manuscript. The Sphinx Club, of Los Angeles has undertaken the difficult task of raising finances for the first edition, and their Entertainment Committee, assisted by Mr. Ballin, are preparing a unique Vaudeville Show and Grand Ball for Wednesday evening, November 19th, 1930, at T. V. G. Building, 936 Washington Street, Los Angeles. A brilliant program will be presented, assisted by talented stars of the movies and stage. The "Deaf-Mute Howls," that is the first book to be offered for sale, will be on sale at this affair and will be in charge of Neil Hamilton, as "Barker." This famous actor is a great pal of Mr. Ballin's. In his efforts to get his book published Mr. Ballin has fought obstacles and discouragements which would have beaten a less indomitable spirit. Here's wishing him and the Grand Ball and the sale of books the best o' luck!

For several reasons the usual summer picnic of the Sunshine Circle had been postponed, and it was held Saturday, October 18th, at Exposition Park. The middle of the day is warm enough for picnics here at a time yet Easterners were reported having near freezing temperatures. The Committee prepared coffee and "hot dogs" on the park ovens, for those who had no lunch. A beautiful quilt, on which chances had been sold during the summer, was raffled and won by Mrs. Omar Smith. A strange thing was that making and raffling the quilt was her idea, and she had done more work on it than other members, so she certainly got her reward and the Circle got a neat sum of money.

The Los Angeles Silent Club had a jolly and well attended Hallowe'en Party and Poverty Ball, October 25th. Chairman Mrs. Earl Lewis herself made many crepe paper caps of different colors and no two alike and devised Hallowe'en decorations, so it was a colorful affair. Cider and doughnuts were sold, and there was an amusing shadow pantomime recalling days before the movies. The prizes for the poorest dressed woman went to Mrs. David Reddick, and for the men to President Conway. A French doll and pillow made by Mrs. Lewis was raffled and won by Mrs. Parrish. Mrs. Lewis, who is a very gifted and artistic needlewoman, also made the doll won by Mrs. Reddick, and the neckties won by Mr. Conway. Others assisting Mrs. Lewis were Mesdames Reddick, Wilder and Stiehler, and Messrs. Barrett and Reddick. The club's bazaar will be on November 22d. A good dinner will be served and various articles for sale. More details later.

FANWOOD

Recently Editor Hodgson presented the Protean Society with a memento of its early days, that was admired by all. It is a menu of the second annual dinner of the Society, held nearly forty years ago, and is of historical interest. Instead of being printed on the customary cardboard folder, it is made of wide blue and white saten ribbon, with ruffled edges, reminiscent of "lavender and old lace" of by-gone times. Besides being a very fine job typographically, it also brings to memory the quaint type faces in vogue at that time, the date being June 13, 1891.

And perhaps the householder will sigh when he reads what a satisfying meal could be had at Martinielli's Restaurant, on 136 Fifth Avenue, for one dollar:—

The active members are listed as follows: Archibald McL. Baxter, Henry Bettels, Wilbur L. Bowers, James F. Britt, William Coombs, Martin Glynn, John H. Hogan, Robert E. Maynard, Josias D. Mendez, Henry M. Pace, Frank A. Stryker, Frank Turner, Richard Tweed, Christian E. Vernon and William W. Watson.

The honorary members were Fred W. Baars, Anthony Capelle, William Hanson, Edwin A. Hodgson and George S. Porter.

Of the members, Messrs. Baxter, Bettels, Britt, Glynn, Watson and Stryker, are still living. We read in the JOURNAL that Mr. Glynn was given a birthday party last week to remind him that he was sixty years old.

Readers will be delighted to note that the roster of honorary members remains as it was the forty years ago. Mr. Hodgson seems as ruddy as ever, and Mr. Capelle is still actively connected with New York organizations. Mr. Hanson lives in Brooklyn and Mr. Porter enjoys life in the Trenton, N. J., suburbs. And last week's JOURNAL again furnishes the information that Mr. Baars was on his way from Colorado to Hawaii, where he expects to make his future home.

Dr. Thomas F. Fox, our Senior assistant and High Class teacher, gave one of the most illustrative lectures on "The Political Outlook," in graphic signs, which was enjoyed by every one on Thursday evening, October 30th, in the chapel. It was the opening lecture of the Faculty Course for the term, and was very interesting, and concerned the different views of the Democratic, Republican, Socialist, Labor and other parties. He also explained how the people registered and later voted by the new voting machines.

Albert Pyle had a rather thrilling experience, as he was riding on the rear platform of a 167th Street crosstown surface car last Saturday afternoon. The trolley car was proceeding down a steep hill on Boscobel Avenue, in the Bronx, when a big ice delivery truck crashed into the rear end of the trolley and shattered the windows. One young boy who was sitting on the rear end was badly cut on the back of his neck and an ambulance was called to attend him. The passengers had a severe jolt.

Mr. Ben de Castro, a graduate of 1915, now a resident of Colon, Panama, was a visitor here on Friday, October 24th. He came to New York City on the S. S. Virginia. He expects to stay three months, then he will return to Panama.

A former teacher, Mrs. Hoffman (nee Eckert) of some fifteen years ago, was also a visitor here on the 24th. A sister of hers also taught here and left earlier than Mrs. Hoffman.

Miss Berry, our Voice Culture teacher, took a trip to New Haven, Ct., on Friday, October 24th. Saturday afternoon, she went to the famous Yale Bowl to see the football game between the Army and Yale teams. It rained hard during the game. There were 77,000 spectators there. The score was tied by 7 to 7. Miss Berry says that it was very thrilling to see it.

On Tuesday morning, October 28th, the Fox Movietone News Co., took moving pictures of the cadets going through the various military formations. The music of the band was also recorded at the same time, and the pictures were exhibited at all Loew theatres last Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

There was a jolly Hallowe'en party held in the Boys' Study Hall on the evening of October 31st, tendered by the members of the Fanwood Athletic Association. The members of the Barrager Athletic Association were their guests.

First of all, the Hall was gorgeously decorated with pretty colored crepe, and the electric bulbs were covered with yellow and orange paper, thus giving the hall an appropriate atmosphere for the purpose. On the northern side of the hall, large letters spelling "Fanwood A.-A.-B. A. A." were posted on the wall, made of black and orange crepe paper. Streamers were also hung over the bunting.

Below is the program of the jolly affair:—

1. Grand March
2. Waltz
3. Fox Trot
4. Various Games
5. Miniature Show
- (a) Witch—Ernest Marshall
- (b) Fortune Teller
- (c) Beauty—William Rayner
- (d) Red Devil—Geo. Salamandi
- (e) Magician—Felix Kowalewski
- (f) Midgets
- (g) Clowns
6. Fox Trot
7. Good Night

Precisely at 8:30 o'clock the girls came into the Boys' Hall, in snappy military order.

Then there was a scramble for their dancing partners, as a waltz opened the program after the grand march was over. Next came fox-trot, then there were amusing games, with the winners being presented with candy as prizes.

The miniature show was excellent all the way through and was full of mirth.

One of the most amusing spectacles was William Rayner, dressed up as a "femme." He looked perfect, except for his masculine walk.

Three clowns, Sandy Tedesco, Frank Pusefski and Albert Capocci, closed the program by signing a Hallowe'en poem.

Candy was on sale and many a gallant cadet dug down in his pocket to buy his guest some candy.

Prof. Hjalmar Gustafsson, superintendent of the school for the deaf at Vansborg, Sweden, who is on an official tour of inspection of American schools, was a visitor on Monday and was shown all departments of the school.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Hamel and their daughter and son, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Blaudet and daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hamel, all of Canada, were interested visitors here on the afternoon of Thursday, October 30th. They all motored down from Canada, and returned on Friday morning, October 31st.

Mr. Odie W. Underhill, a teacher in Manual and Printing Departments of the North Carolina school at Morganton, was a caller Monday. He was on his way back to the Southland after visiting his son at West Point over the week-end.

ALBERT PYLE.

KALAMAZOO, MICH.

Kalamazoo Division No. 34 drew a large number of persons to its Hallowe'en Costume Social Saturday evening, October 25th, at Moose Temple, where Division No. 34 has met for a number of years—a beautiful, spacious hall.

Mrs. Bertha Toegel, of Detroit, came as a Dutch peasant, and Miss Iva Van Dyke dressed as a Mexican cow girl, and both won first prizes; F. H. Wheeler, Jr., was in a light-toned negro's full dress and silk hat. Mr. Gertrude Johnson was a gypsy, and Miss Florence Wheeler, a girl clown dancer. Of the games, a flat-walk contest was won by Mrs. D. Smallidge and Mr. J. McGunnis, of Grand Rapids; bean-piping by Miss Lena Miller, of Chicago, and Frank Adams. A quarter contest, which was to be moved on two common pins from one place to another place was won by Miss Dorothy Lee, of Grand Rapids. A Dutch song of a beau in a restaurant, was recited by Mrs. Bertha Toegel, in the sign language, and caused much laughter.

The program closed with a speech by Mr. Merton Francisco, in regards to the needs of the Michigan Association of the Deaf at Flint, seeking assistance from town clubs to fight unjust compensation laws and deprivation of the right to drive cars by the deaf.

Kalamazoo Southwest branch, M. A. D., was decided on and organized with a force of officers: Daniel Teller, President; Mrs. Myrtle Troy, Vice-President; Miss Iva Van Dyke, Secretary; Fred H. Wheeler, Jr., Treasurer; Board of Trustees, John K. Cordano, of St. Joseph, Clifford C. Stevens, of Battle Creek, and Miss Florence Wheeler. Its object is to protect the rights of the deaf.

Daintily lunches were appropriately served by Mrs. Frank Adams and Mrs. Moses Graff. The whole affair was well engineered by Moses Graff, social chairman.

CHICAGO

Horace Perry saved another life! The man who was featured in a Michigan newspaper for being the only deaf autoist to stop and aid two injured ladies at the scene of a wreck—when the Perry family returned from the Buffalo N. A. D. convention—is again a hero. As near as we can make out, this is the story:—

A bunch of some fifty were at Rev. Flick's temporary location on the near North Side, not far from the loop, one recent Wednesday night. Queer old place, magnificent but stately. One of them was Etta Cottman. Remember Etta? No? Just a humble worker for the old Silent A. C.; always ready to chip in and help. The butt of many a thoughtless joke, which she took within her good-natured grin. Well, Etta Cottman had occasion to go downstairs. Anyway, she entered a small room near the foot of the stairs. Presently she tried to get out. Like a movie plot, she found the door had a catch-spring on the outside. And that door was of old-fashioned oak an inch thick!

She shouted and pounded and kicked and shrieked—her knees and fists were afterwards found swollen and bleeding. Presently someone who had a slight sense of hearing felt a noise downstairs. A few bold boys ventured down—making a lark of it pretending "hunting ghosts in the haunted house." Skylarking, as men will, one turned out the light, and another began pinching the rest in pitch darkness, and there was a hilarious scramble for the stairs. The hunt was abandoned.

Presently the crowd gathered to go home. But Horace Perry is a curious cuss. The kind who, at a party, will sit in a corner and work on a new-fangled trick-puzzle until he solves it. Used to be an inventor, I believe. The mystery intrigued him. Who—where—why—how? "Wait here, I want to go down and look around again," says he—and ignoring sarcastic and uncomplimentary comments, down stairs he went.

Perry opened doors and looked around. Peered in corners. Got his hands dirty. Finally gave up the hunt, and decided to wash up and go home. Only—so the story runs—by mistake he opened the door of the ladies' washroom instead of the mens.

He stumbled over a woman's body! It was Etta Cottman! Unconscious, she was pitifully gasping for air. For the room was air-tight!

The group upstairs were thrown into sudden panic to see Perry tear in waving frantically "come—maybe dead." At first reluctant, suspecting the well-known practical-joker of another trick, they finally followed him. It was long before the exhausted woman was brought to life. And days before she ceased trembling from the shock. Had Perry's natural cussedness not prevailed to solve the problem, the dead body of Etta Cottman would have lain in that out-of-the-way room until Saturday. And all Deafdom would have been under suspicion of perpetrating a "murder-mystery."

Hugo Mallman is back. Arrived on the 24th, after a hide-out in Kansas City. The news spread at the "grand charity ball and card party" given by Chi-first frats at Albany Park Hall that evening. Attendance over three hundred; twenty tables of cards; four-piece band for dancing; nice time provided by chairman Hosea Hooper and Abe Migatz. Benefit Home for Aged Deaf. David Brill, Republican candidate for probate judge, made a political speech, interpreted by Mrs. Gus Hyman. Among the distinguished visitors was Mrs. Kenneth Willman, of Los Angeles, returning home after eight weeks in New York visiting her sister—and the Morris Purviances, of Detroit.

The Illinois Advance comes out with a new editor—J. N. Orman, from the Kansas school. David Mudgett, a graduate of Jacksonville and of Gallaudet, is another new deaf teacher at our State school. The third is Bell Johnson, who served as supervisor last year. That makes three new deaf teachers installed this term by young Dan Cloud, and augurs well for increased Illinois matriculation at Gallaudet College.

Miss Elizabeth Tate, daughter of a late superintendent of the Minnesota school, is another addition to the Illinois teachers force. Superintendent Cloud weeded out several incompetents last June, and, as far as politics allows, is gradually bringing our State school back to the proud eminence it once knew. I. S. Dunn, who seems to be an excellent printer and pressman, gives over the reins as editor of the school paper to Jim Orman, as his printing classes of sixty two pupils daily demand all his time. Dunn holds a Union card.

Young Cloud is starting an experimental feature in the admission of a group of pre-school-age kiddies to test the practicability of starting deaf education sooner than normal children. The fact Gallaudet College has a five-year course, contrasted to the four-year normal career, proves we deaf are handicapped from the start in acquiring an education, and Cloud's pioneering promises great results.

Big smoker of Chi-first frats is set for November 29th, at Occidental Hall, 14 North Sacramento. Abe Migatz, chairman, promises he will get out of the rut in which local smokers have performed the past few years. Since that Silver Jubilee smoker of 1926, local affairs have been almost as trite and tame as the Buffalo blowout.

While visiting in Chicago for some days, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Purviance, of Detroit, Mich., were quartered at the Morrison Hotel, a first-class hotel, like notables of wealth. Besides sides enjoying themselves at the Charity Ball, they also were loyally entertained at parties at the homes of their friends.

The Jesse Waterman had some forty relatives at their place on the 26th, celebrating their silver wedding anniversary.

Frank Carter, of Oregon, is said to be in town hunting work.

The Robert Blairs liked their seven-passenger Cadillac so well, that they traded in the Buick, which recently upset, for a new five-passenger Cadillac, and now have two.

The male members of Chicago League of Hebrew Deaf has made an incipient effort to organize their bowling team, under the auspices of the club, with an opening game, October 23d, in the evening. There was a match between them, and a few members of Chicago Division, No. 105, that defeated the former. The line-up of C. L. H. D. was Joseph Herzberg, Harry Luft, Phillip Harris and Morris Hertzberg, as against H. Pulver, J. Davis, A. Harris and J. Generts. There are additional members of C. L. H. D. team, H. Pines and Mr. Pernick.

A large number of the Catholic deaf attended mass with Holy Communion at the chapel of the Catholic deaf club house, Sunday, October 26th, at 8:30 A.M. After mass, Rev. M. D. Byrnes was invited to make an address with Perry McCarthy as interpreter.

Rev. Mrs. C. H. Elmes conducted a Sunday service at the M. E. Mission October 26th, with the usual attendance, during the absence of her father, Rev. Hasenstab, who was at the district conference at LaPorte, Ind.

Mrs. Laura Brasher bobs up in Chicago again, after her absence of eight months. She has been with her folks at Rock Island, Ill. She is remaining indefinitely here.

A number of deaf people watched a football game, played between the eleven of the members of the Catholic deaf club, and the eleven of the hearing men, on the ground of the Ephpheta School for the Catholic deaf Sunday, October 26th, at 2:30 P.M. An admission of fifty cents a person was charged, to benefit the school fund.

Rev. Sibitzky preached at All Angels' Church Sunday, October 26th, at 3 P.M., during the absence of Rev. Flick, who conducted a church service at Eau Claire, Wis., on the same date.

A Hallowe'en party at the Catholic deaf club house Sunday, October 26th, at 8 P.M., was largely attended. The guests passed a pleasant evening in games and other diversions. The proceeds went to the club fund.

The Pas-a-Pas Club held a "500" and bunco party at its club hall Sunday, October 26th, at 8 P.M. The club will repeat parties Saturdays, November 8th and 15th, and also Sunday, November 23d. It also will give three evening tournaments at the same hall November 26th, 27th and 28th.

THE COLORED DEAF

Mrs. Lillian Sommers was reported seriously ill, but investigation proved it to

GALLAUDET COLLEGE

By Andy Mack and Alice McGunn

Merrily the wheels of education are turning and the thoughts of the student body are being focused to the usual mid-term examinations.

At a mass meeting of the student body to decide the itinerary for the annual Thanksgiving Vacation bus trip, the vote was in favor of a one day outing to include such points of interest as Fredericksburg, Va.; the Shenandoah Caverns; the University of Virginia; and Monticello, the home of Thomas Jefferson. It has not been decided whether or not the return home will be by a different route, probably by Harper's Ferry. On last year's trip to Richmond, two busses carried about one hundred students, but this year not quite as many are expected to go.

Leave it to the 'June-peas' Juniors. Displaying ability that would do credit to professionals, Misses Martino, Corretti, Bridger & Co., representing the Junior Girls' baseball creation, swamped the 'Preps' by a large score. The score is, unfortunately, unknown even to the winners themselves. With Miss Ruth Rensberg displaying how the ball ought to be hit and where to put it when you hit it, the girls are becoming experts in this department of athletics. Since the boys have decided to abandon baseball altogether for the year, because of low gate receipts, it is suggested that they permit the girls to play in the boys' stead. There ought to be a rush for tickets, if the feminine team ever took the field and the days of lean finances would be over.

Showing that the trend is ever toward greater improvement, the Boys Reading Room has installed spring back covers for all the periodicals belonging to the reading racks. After years of the old style "open book" method, these stiff and clean covers will make the magazines last longer and present no excuse for the wanton mutilation of reading matter. Under the new committee, the Reading Room is in much better order while during the summer months all the varnish and paint work was brightened up, giving the boys a place with a pleasant atmosphere in which to pass their hours of freedom.

William Shakespeare's famous story, "Taming of the Shrew," was the first silent movie shown last week to inaugurate the campaign waged by "Ruddy" Gamblin, '34, in behalf of the students. The audience, composed of practically all the students able to muster the admission price and those able to take the time, saw this film at the Princess. Success marked its showing and it is expected that continued good attendance will enable one silent film to be shown every Sunday hereafter. Let us thank Gamblin of the "Rio Grande."

Hallowe'en, with its goblins and witches, lasted but a short time in the memory of Gallaudet undergraduates. Every year Washington has a gala festival around Tenth and F Streets, Northwest, where all the youths and girls celebrate with all the earmarks of old times. This year happened to be a very cold, windy, wintry night, and with a football game scheduled for the following day, the most of them as players were compelled to seek sleep instead of fun.

Frolicing until early morning prevailed in some cases, but all of the boys were up in time for luncheon Saturday.

While the boys were having their fun, the girls of Fowler Hall, not to be outdone, gave a Hallowe'en party in their reading room. With a decorative scheme that bespoke of careful planning and originality a happy time was had by all. A success from all viewpoints, funny and original games were played and, to top off the night's discussion, permit it to be said that costumes consisted of pajamas and the eats—plenty of them—iced cider, apples and doughnuts. Yes, the girls are waiting for the next Hallowe'en to turn up!

Boys will be boys and "hitch-hikers" are men with the adventurous spirit of boys. Earl Sollenberger and his roommate, "Woodrow" Wilson Grabill, amid the cold of November days trekked to Carlisle in the customary manner of boys, and after stopping for five hours sight-seeing at Harrisburg, capital city of Pennsylvania, managed to arrive at the football game during the last few minutes of play. This enterprising pair, strong in school spirit, furnished an example of what real college boys can do when sufficiently enthused.

Saturday evening at 7:30, the first Literary meeting of the Owls was held in the girls' reading room. Girls of the Preparatory class were the cordially invited guests. An entertaining program was rendered by members of the Owls as follows:—

Talk—History of the O. W. L. S. Library
Dramatized Poem—If I could only Write
Translated from the Spanish
Geneva Florence, '32, and Mary Caponigro, '31
Declaration—The Black Shawl (Translated from the Russian) May Krohn, '32
Replies of a few Washington Statues
Josephine Beesley, '31, Thelma Dyer, '32
Leone Austin, '34, Catherine Bronson, '32, Ann Marino, '34

Miss Margaret McKellar, '31, acted as critic.

Following the football game Saturday, "Sturdy" Wurdemann, "Mule" Monaghan, Jack Craven, Angelo Maccono and Abe Kruger, stopped on the way home at the Maryland school in Frederick, long enough to take in the program of the Ely Literary Society given by the high class. Featuring the program was a six act play "Rip Van Winkle," Washington Irving's famous story. Victor Knauss, '26, whose name is still to be found among the books in the college library, was the director of this play. While in college "Vic" was a proverbial "book hound," and his dramatic ability was well known before going to the Maryland school. A crowd of Marylanders are expected to be on hand to see Gallaudet swing into action against Shepherd College this week-end on Kendall Green. No doubt the delegation will be led by Barney Golden, Victor Knauss and probably Harry Benson, who are strong with loyalty to old Gallaudet.

Marking one of the finest social events of the ensuing year Saturday evening, the Hallowe'en Dance will be held in the gymnasium, beginning at 8 p.m. Prizes for the best costumes will be awarded and games of all kinds will prevail. Eats and refreshments will be served and the admission charge is only twenty-five coppers, one quarter part of a dollar.

Delmar Cosgrove, leading scorer in the District College ranks for the past two years, was elected captain of the basketball team for the coming season. Cosgrove, a sharpshooter and tower of strength in all departments, will lead the quintet that had such a successful season last year. All the men are back, and with an array of promising second string material on hand the Blues will be prepared to face stiffer competition. Manager "Chet" Dobson and assistant manager "Runt" O'Brien are engaged in lining up the schedule. Veterans of last year include: Cosgrove, Wurdemann, Ringle, Brown, Bradley, Hokanson, Katz, Antilla, Brockett, Burdette, Kozlar, Curtice.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

Saturday, Nov. 8.—Football Shepherd College here Hallowe'en Dance—Gym., 8 p.m.

Sunday, Nov. 9.—Y. W. C. A. Meeting, Fowler Hall 7 p.m.

Saturday, Nov. 15.—Football at Langley, Va. Social 8 p.m.

On the old stamping grounds of "Pop" Warner's famous Carlisle Indians of yesteryears, where Jim Thorpe, greatest players of all time galloped, Gallaudet's little Blue eleven, after a hectic battle, held the Field Medical Service School to a scoreless tie.

Playing on a field swept by wintry blasts of "zero" weather, against a team that outweighed them thirty pounds to the man, the Blues managed to hold the Army Medico after their own line play had proved futile.

Starting off in an impressive manner the Blues had the ball on the Medico's fifteen-yard line in the first few minutes of play, mainly through the ability of "Rabbit" Ringle. But when danger threatened the Medico line, a heavy affair with four men weighing two hundred pounds or over, stiffened and held. Neither team entered the other's twenty-yard line during the remainder of the game.

"Rabbit" Ringle, in the estimation of old Army men stationed at the post, who remember the old Indian teams up to 1930, after the game, stated that this back was truly one of the best performers ever seen on the Carlisle Field. Ringle and Williams, this duet did all the ground gaining during the course of the afternoon. While Williams did some linebucking that speaks well of his future, it was Ringle who played the whole game, weathering the avalanche of men who attempted to smother him everywhere he took the ball, and coming up for more.

Clearly, the battle was evenly fought. A good little team, against a strong big team. Noteworthy was the speed shown by the Medicos, while the Blues failed dismally in showing any one that could qualify as a fast back.

Throughout the game the position only changed materially when either team took the oval in its own territory and snagged a few first downs, until further progress would be impossible and an exchange of punts would make the battle begin all over again.

In the second half the Blues, soundly inspired by Coach Hughes' talk, seemed likely to score when Ringle received the kickoff and ran it back twenty-five yards, but a penalty for roughness was incurred and the Blues' chances for scoring was gone.

During the remaining periods both teams put on fancy displays of the overhead game, with the Medicos completing more passes than the Blues. Probably it was the extreme cold that made the Blues' passing attack futile. Hokanson had difficulty in finding target for his tosses, and the Medicos showed a good defense against passes.

As the game entered the final stages, the Medicos seemed likely to score, but as their drive began to show signs of success, Captain Paul Zieske managed to intercept Wood's pass, and the game was just about ended right there, for the Blues were unable to gain their objective.

Noticeable weak spots in the Blues offensive was the lack of interference given to Ringle. With proper interference, he would have made huge gains, but whenever that worthy took the oval, his interference either failed to form or was taken out before being formed. In the line the Blues, out-weighted man for man, played well, but with the weight advantage against them from end to end, line thrusts were of little use, while the cold weather prevented the use of speed in skirting the ends. With the passing attack bottled up, the game became a case of waiting for the breaks, but no breaks occurred.

Saturday, the last home game of the year will be played on Kendall Green against Shepherd College, of Shepherdstown, West Virginia. The following week, the Blues travel to Langley, Va., to engage the fast moving Langley Field Aviators.

The Capital City

The Washington papers of October 27th, stated that three years ago, a "cross and irritable" cow came too near a group of children at Gallaudet College. In the flight, Louise May Carter, now eight, of 3103 Chestnut Street N. E., charges she was knocked down and her leg fractured. She is asking $25,000 damages against the Columbia Institute for the Deaf, for the injury three years ago.

Prof. and Mrs. Harley Drake entertained a card party Wednesday evening, October 27th, at their home on the Gallaudet Row. It was a Gallaudet College Alumni Association's party, and the ladies were dressed in lovely and gay gowns, transforming the parlors into veritable fairland of gayety. The first floor is one of the most impressive and roomy homes among the deaf. From the large windows one can glimpse the beautiful Gallaudet College buildings. The Drake's three charming daughters, Elizabeth, Lillian the fair, and Frances the dark, were present. Fantan, "500" and bridge, were played.

At a big round table sat Mr. and Mrs. Tracy, Mr. Bryant, Mrs. Hall, Mrs. Ely and Mrs. Harman. They played Fantan until Mrs. Ely won, she was graced with a box of bath salts. At "500" Mrs. Albert Rose carried the score, a card book, on bridge, Dr. Hall captured the prize, an electric candle lamp.

Mr. and Mrs. Drake served delicious refreshments, assisted by their charming eldest daughter, Elizabeth. After the refreshments the annual election of officers of Gallaudet College Alumni Association was held. Mr. Krug, president of the Association, took charge of the meeting. The results were: Prof. Hughes, president; Albert Rose, vice-president; and Roy J. Stewart, secretary-treasurer.

Among those present were: Messrs. Tracy, Hannan, Rose, Ely, Ferguson, Craig, Stewart, and Messrs. Bryant, Hughes, Krug, W. Edington, Lowry, and Mesdames Adams, Colby, Misses Nelson and Atkins.

Mrs. H. Lorraine Tracy entertained Mesdames Ballard and Hannan to a luncheon at her cosy apartment Thursday, October 23d.

The Gallaudet eleven defeated the Baltimore University under the flood lights in Baltimore, Md., Friday, October 24th, by a score of 18 to 7. Those from Washington, who went to witness the battle were Mrs. Alley, Miss Atkins, W. Edington and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Rose in the Rose's Essex. After the battle Mrs. Alley and Miss Atkins went to Overlea, Md., to spend Sunday all day with Miss Lera Roberts. Mr. Alley brought them home Sunday night.

Miss Irene Schipino, of Philadelphia, was in Washington, D. C., October 11th. She took in the sights of the city, and called on the newly admitted students at Gallaudet College, who were from the Edgewood school.

Mrs. Robert Boswell had a minor operation at Sibley Hospital October 22d, was brought home Saturday, October 25th. She will take a two weeks' rest.

District firemen turned their hose on the Capitol Saturday 25th, in their annual task of cleaning the exterior of the Capitol building with high-pressure streams of water.

Letters from Detroit advise Mrs. Kenneth Willman (Celia Hunter), of Los Angeles, was at the D. A. D. social of October 12th, in the anticipation of seeing the writer, but unfortunately she left that day for Washington, D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Ferguson left here last September for the west on a pleasant jaunt, and have returned home safe and sound. They were at the Drake party of October 29th. It is likely that Mr. Ferguson will give a talk on his ten days' tour to the west, at the next meeting of the National Literary Society.

Rev. and Mrs. H. Lorraine Tracy were week-end guests of the Romney, West Va., School for the Deaf, October 30th.

A new bridge club will be organized in the near future.

Prof. H. Drake, of Gallaudet College, is leader of the Baptist Bible Class, since the opening of the mission in September.

The Baptist people have taken the Third Tuesday of each month as their social meeting.

A Twin Shower was given Mrs. Dorsch (Evelyn Sharp), at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Yeager, Saturday evening, October 25th. Twenty-nine friends were invited. "500" was played, Wallace Edington won the prize, and Mrs. Yeager's daughter, Mrs. Sullivan, the booty. Dainty refreshments were served. The young lady received many gifts.

St. Barnabas' Mission will have an annual election of officers to be held at the old Parish Hall of St. Mark's Church, November 16th. The bazaar and luncheon and evening of November 12th. Come everybody and help the good cause.

The sermon of Rev. A. D. Bryant, of October 26th, was "The Kingdom of God," taking his text as "Comradeship," I King's, 19 Chapter, verse 15.

Mrs. E. E. Bernsdorf's health is much improved, having gained six pounds since she returned from Atlantic City. The ocean breezes benefited her. Now she is visiting her mother and folks in Connecticut, to be gone for some time.

The new president, Mr. Albert Rose, of the National Literary Society of Washington, has prepared some new ideas in store for you all. Come and attend. Admission fee is only fifty cents a year, or ten cents a month. Rev. Mr. Bryant will give an exciting lecture, and Robert Werdig will give a monologue.

The members and friends of St. Barnabas' Mission for the Deaf are greatly rejoiced over the completion of the memorial chapel of the Nazarene, which was built in St. Mark's Church during the past summer. They now have an ideal place in which to hold their services. The chapel is certainly a beautiful little place with lectern, prayer desk, communion railing, and last but not least, a fitting marble altar. Rev. Hulbert A. Woolfall, the beloved rector of the church, early realized the church itself with its shaded lights were ill suited to the deaf, who depend upon good light and clear eyesight in order to cooperate with the missionary during services.

He prevailed upon the vestry and friends to erect the chapel, which is ideally equipped, much to the delight of all. Rev. Mr. Tracy has every reason to feel elated. The first service in this new chapel was held on the 19th of October, Mr. Tracy taking "Happy is the man that hath his quiver full"—Psalm 127 : 5, for his his text. The next services will take place on November 2d, together with Holy Communion. Mrs. Edwin Isaacson rendered "Lead, Kindly Light."

Engineered by Mesdames S. B. Alley and A. F. Parker, a surprise party was tendered Mrs. Robert Smoak Saturday night, October 18th, at her home on E Street, N. E., it being her 7th birthday. As the hour for all to gather at the house drew near Mrs. Smoak was enticed away to the house of the H. S. Edington, a short distance away. But she was told to return home at once as Mr. Bradley, S. C., student of Gallaudet College, was at her house with important business. She was completely taken by surprise upon discovering the house full of happy friends, who had foregathered to extend her best wishes for many returns of the day. She was presented with beautiful table linen, which had been well wrapped up, necessitating some work to get to "the core." Mrs. Alley was ably assisted by Mrs. Parker. Delicious refreshments were served, while all were either playing "500" or "Donkey." It was a late hour before all the forty guests took leave of the happy honoree. The prizes were awarded: Mr. Alley, a pair of socks, Mrs. Alley, a dainty box of powder. For booty, Mrs. Harrison and Albert Rose were treated to ice-cream.

The Ladies of St. Barnabas' Mission are busy preparing for their annual bazaar and luncheon on Wednesday night, November 12th, at the Parish House of St. Mark's Church, corner A and Third Streets, southeast. The ladies are anxious to be able to do more good with funds they obtain, hence it is hoped they will be properly encouraged. As November 12th has been reserved for the bazaar and luncheon of the Ladies' Guild, the annual election of the officers will be held at old Parish House, November 16th. The members of St. Barnabas' Mission are urged to attend.

Mrs. C. C. COLBY.

Sundry

Miss Vina Smith, who lives at the Agard Rest Home, Lake Bluff, Ill., spent Tuesday, October 21st with Mr. and Mrs. Peter Witschiel, who are living with their daughter, Mrs. William S. Bennet, at 2046 Sheridan Road, Evanston, Ill. Miss Smith expects to leave soon after November 1st to spend the winter in St. Cloud, Fla., with her friends, Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Philpot. The sixtieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Witschiel was observed last August. They now have seven grand-children and four great-grand-children.

OHIO

News items for this column can be sent to Miss B. M. Edgar, 56 Latta Avenue, Columbus, Ohio.

The Columbus deaf who own and operate cars are talking of forming an automobile club, which will be a branch of the American Automobile Association. The promoters of the idea think in this way deaf drivers will be protected. The officers elected at a meeting of local car owners were Rev. F. C. Smielau, chairman; Mr. C. B. Jacobson, vice-chairman; Mr. E. Kennedy, secretary and treasurer. After members have paid ten dollars in monthly dues, they become members of the A. A. A. I believe many deaf drivers here have been members of the A. A. A. for some years now, and just how this branch of deaf drivers will help remains to be seen.

The Boys' Athletic Club, which for years was influential in promoting sports of all kind, has disbanded from some reason. This club served a good purpose and all regret that it was forced to give up on account of financial difficulties. It is hoped that other plans will be developed to arrange to carry on the school's athletic program. The boys need the experience, they gained through work of this kind. Mr. James Flood is now the faculty manager of athletics and attends to arranging for games for the ball teams.

The football team this season has many new members and seems to be lighter in weight than the teams they have so far battled with.

At the meeting of the Columbus Ladies' Aid Society last week, the following resolutions were adopted:

IN MEMORIAM

DR. J. W. JONES

Without warning, Death has come among us and removed from our midst Dr. John W. Jones, and in his passing we, the Columbus Ladies' Aid Society, feel much sorrow.

Being a man of great heart and understanding, he stood ever ready to lend his aid and counsel to any projects connected with the Home for the Deaf, and gave us to understand we were always welcome to use the Institution for our meetings and socials, and assured us of the pleasure it gave him to be of assistance.

In his death we have, indeed, lost a trustworthy friend and advisor, and we extend our heartfelt sympathy to his sorrowing wife and family, and pray our Heavenly Father will assuage their grief; and,

Be it resolved, That these resolutions be placed on our minutes and a copy be sent to the family and published in the Chronicle.

MRS. JOSEPH H. NEUTZLING,
MRS. WM. H. ZOERN,
MRS. WALTER WALK.

MRS. MARGARET SCHWARTZ

Again our Circle has been broken and Death has taken one of our charter members, Mrs. Margaret Heyl Schwartz, and with her decrease we have lost a good friend and valuable co-worker, one who cheerfully performed any task assigned to her.

We will miss her greatly at our meetings and socials, and to her bereaved husband and daughters we extend our heartfelt sympathy and hope their grief will be mitigated by the knowledge she is, at last, free from all pain and that He giveth He loveth sleep.

Therefore be it resolved, That these resolutions be placed on our minutes and a copy be sent to the family and published in the Chronicle.

MRS. JOSEPH NEUTZLING,
MRS. WM. H. ZOERN,
MRS. WALTER WALK.

The daily papers are making much over the return of prosperity and "going back to work," yet I have heard that in several localities the deaf are still jobless and many have had to appeal to local Welfare Departments to aid them. Surely those of us at work should give liberally to the community chest fund this year, as it looks now as if it would be a winter of much suffering.

Mr. Norbert Pilliod, of Swanton, has made a success of grape raising this year, having taken second prize for the best crop of grapes at a corn festival. Then he has had baskets and baskets of grapes to tote around to sell.

One day last week my school room door opened and there stood Mrs. Wm. Sawhill of Pittsburgh. Since having a car, Mrs. Sawhill is here, there and everywhere. She was with Mr. and Mrs. Steele, of Akron, and a few others. Mrs. Sawhill has often been at the school during vacations, but this was her first visit while school was in session since she was a pupil here some years ago.

Last Saturday about thirty Gallaudettes started out in eight cars for an outing sixty miles from here. The place was among hills and beautiful scenery and all had a grand time and confessed that Ohio has as fine scenery as can be found anywhere. Steep hills made careful driving and all cars but one made the ascents. The one that failed was the antique Ford, owned by Mr. J. C. Winemiller. He and his party had to be taken up in another car, much to the amusement of all. I was not favored with a list of those present and was not able to accept the invitation to go.

The deaf were quite shocked to learn yesterday through the local newspapers, that Mrs. Jennie Vogelhund, of Hillsboro, was in a Columbus Hospital with a fractured skull.

She was in a car belonging to Mrs. Marie Stamer, daughter of Mrs. C. C. Neuner, when the car was struck by a street car. Mrs. Stamer was driving and her mother and Mrs. Vogelhund were in the back seat.

Her mother called her attention to something, and in turning to look, Mrs. Stamer ran the car on the street car track. Mrs. Vogelhund is reported as slightly improved and conscious at times. Mrs. Neuner and daughter, after treatment, were able to leave the hospital.

The following clipping was sent to me and, when reading it, remember the parents are deaf and help is truly needed:

"The house in which Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Burford and five children had resided, burned to the ground a few weeks ago. They are at present staying at a neighbor's home, and are sorely in need of warm clothing, especially stockings, and shoes for the children—three girls, aged 2, 4, and 8 years, and two boys, aged 11 and 15. Their condition is indeed pitiable, and anyone who can donate any articles of clothing for the children and articles of food, should send same as soon as possible to Nathan Henick, 2405 Fulton Street, Toledo, Ohio. These are worthy folks, and deserving of all the help we can give."

A few words of information in a letter or postal card is sufficient. We will do the rest.

HALLOWE'EN BIRTHDAY PARTY

The friends of Miss Agnes Di Nuovo, to the number of thirty, on Saturday, October 25th, tendered her party, and incidentally planned, and cleverly carried out also another party at the same time—Hallowe'en. Her birthday occurring nearly when people celebrate the Fall Festival.

A fine supper was served at 7:30 p.m., and of course, Miss Nuovo was the hostess, but she was showered with numerous expensive and useful gifts.

After the repeat, Hallowe'en games were played, and all enjoyed themselves immensely. The prizes in the games, won by Miss Jennie Sheridan and Mr. Joseph Di Francisco, were donated by Miss Agnes Di Nuovo herself.

Six of the guests came from Boston, Mass. They were David Thomas, Samuel Slotnick, John Tomtarro, Mr. and Mrs. L. Muzzio, and their hearing sister.

The party did not terminate till after midnight, all declaring it to have been a very enjoyable affair.

On Wednesday, October 22d, Miss Rose Chadabe accompanied her parents on a vacation tour to Binghamton and Buffalo, N. Y., visiting relatives and friends. While in Buffalo, the parents of Mr. Altor L. Sedlowsky, who live in Toronto, Canada, wired them to come over to see them. On Sunday, October 26th, Mr. Sedlowsky's parents surprised everyone by giving an engagement party in honor of their son, Altor, and Rose Chadabe. Over a hundred people were present. Miss Chadabe was the recipient of a fine engagement ring. Only two deaf people besides the engaged couple were present, Messrs. Rosnick and Goldman, friends of Mr. Sedlowsky.

It is understood that the wedding will take place on Sunday, January 4th, at the home of the bride in the Bronx, New York City. Mr. Sedlowsky and Miss Chadabe, together with her parents, remained in Canada until Tuesday, visiting in Toronto and Hamilton. From Hamilton they went back to Buffalo, where they were entertained by friends and relatives. Miss Chadabe returned to New York Thursday, October 30th.

BROOKLYN HEBREW SOCIETY OF THE DEAF

The Brooklyn Hebrew Society of the Deaf will hold its regular monthly meeting at the Hebrew Educational Society Building, Hopkinson and Sutter Avenues, Brooklyn, N. Y., on the 9th of November, 1930. They will have discussions and nominations for new officers for 1931. After the meeting, the Society will have a movie show of silent pictures in the auditorium of the H. E. S. Building. Admission, adults, 25 cents; children, 15 cents.

The Brooklyn Hebrew Society of the Deaf has Sabbath services on Fridays. All the lectures at time of Sabbath services are arranged by the Council of Jewish Women, Brooklyn Section. The schedules to date for Friday sabbath services are as follows:—

Friday, November 7th, Mr. I. David Satlow, "History of the Jews." Friday, November 14th, Dr. Krugman, Ph.D., "Trades and Trade Schools."

Friday, November 21st, Miss Lillian M. Murphy, Principal of Public School No. 234, Brooklyn's most popular democratic lady leader.

Friday, November 28th, Mr. M. Kleinerman, "What is happening to the Silent Movies."

On Sunday, November 9th, at 8:00 p.m., there will be a marvelous program of silent movies especially selected for the B. H. S. D. Come early and bring your friends.

The jolly ramblers, composed of Mr. and Mrs. Sol Gerson and Mr. Eddie Kerwin, gave a surprise party to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mazzola on Oct. 25th, at the Mayflower Restaurant, with the guests including Messrs. Herbert Carroll, Pierre Blend, Nick Giordano, Daniel Adlis, and the Misses Mary Shea, Dorothy Costello, Carmella Palazatta, Lucy Tichenor, Eva Siegel, Flora Christoffers, Avis Allen, and Margie Gibbons.

Turkey dinner was served and there was dancing. All went to the home of the Mazzolas, where they enjoyed the evening.

On the death of his father, which occurred some time ago, Frank Cook, of Brooklyn, N. Y., with two of his brothers, was equally given the ownership of three houses. When seen last week, he seemed recovered from his recent illness, but for a time his friends were much concerned.

Mr. and Mrs. Barney Greene have two children to grace their home, but if one were to visit their domicile they would think there were three. A friend of the couple recently presented them with a doll the size same as themselves.

Visitors at the Deaf-Mutes' Union League rooms on Thursday evening, were Mr. and Mrs. R. Ackerman and daughter, of Syracuse, N. Y.; Mrs. Julia D. Moran, of Bloomfield, Ct.; and Miss Jennie Jones, of Washington, D. C.

This Saturday evening, November 8th, in the Union League Hall, the Literary Committee of the Deaf-Mutes' Union League will entertain.

On the 15th of November, Miss Agnes Di Nuovo and a party of friends will motor to Boston, Mass., to attend a deaf-mute social affair. Miss J. Schneider will probably be with the party.

Mr. Abraham Ruboff died Monday, November 3d, at the Jewish Hospital in Brooklyn and was buried Tuesday afternoon.

Harold McQuade, of Albany, N. Y., spent the week-end of November 1st in New York.

irthday Party

Some of the many friends of Mr. Charles Fetscher had a belated birthday party in his honor on Saturday evening, October 18th. Charles' really and truly birthday was August 27th, and he was "fifty years young" then. Charles was too weak at that time to have his friends make merry, having just come out of the hospital after an operation for rupture. Miss Gladys Williams took Mrs. Fetscher into the conspiracy for the party.

Charlie was told by the Mrs. that a few lady friends were coming for an evening of cards. It was a genuine surprise to "The Old Man," for while two of the ladies kept him upstairs in animated conversation, a crowd of thirty-two were admitted to the first floor of the home.

A while later he was called down and was greatly surprised to see mob there on the lower floor. He was taken to a large object concealed under paper coverings, the general outlines being those of a square piano of bygone days. Charles was sure some one was unloading one of those white elephants on his hands. On removing the covering, a complete sun-porch set of willow was disclosed, table, rocker and armchair and sofa. For a long time Mr. Fetscher had been hoarding pennies, nickels and dimes, with just a sun-porch set in view, but hospital bills and doctors set him back. Here it was, his dream, and he was dumb at the kindness of his friends. Secretly Mrs. Fetscher had prepared in advance everything from relishes, chicken soup, chicken and potato salad, assorted sandwiches, liquid refreshments and wonderful cake as only she can make, and a fine spread was all ready, even to a three-story birthday cake all covered with chocolate, big as a dishpan, and with the traditional fifty candles and one for next year on it. Charles had the honor of lighting it, blowing out the candles and cutting the cake.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. McLaren, Liebsohn, Toohay, Bertine, Nesgood, Donovan, Underwood; Mrs. Schnackenberg, Gass, Wollman, Taggard, Dingly and Thies; Misses Anderson, Williams, Burns, Hall and Foussadier; Messrs. Anderson, Ecka, E. Mayer, J. Maier, Alexander, Gillen, Meyer, Borgstrand and Elsworth. Among those who were unable to be present but who contributed to the gift were Miss Erlich, Mrs. Borgstrand, Mr. Wollman, William Fitzgerald and Poorman. On the handsome birthday booklet were also the names of Mrs. Fetscher and the boys, as "last but not least."

William Godlewski, twenty-nine years old, uneducated deaf-mute, of 46 Canal Street, Jersey City, was acquitted of manslaughter in the Hudson County Court last week, after he had taken the stand, and by drawing pictures and using a sign language of his own, denied striking the blow that killed Stanley Goldsmith, his friend, on September 21, 1929.

BUFFALO HOOFPRIENTS

By J. FREDERICK MEAGHER

INSTALLMENT VIII

Eighty silents sit down to an excellent $1.00 Statler banquet, right after final adjournment of the NAD convention Friday, August 8th. Bona-fide Gallaudet College folk mostly, the foreign delegation and a few—very few selected "guests," or escorts. "Crashing the gates" is as easy as camels going through a needle's eye.

The newly-elected N. A. D. president, the Rev. Franklin C. Smielau of Columbus, serves as toastmaster. Shades of Christopher Columbus, how come? Oh, they tell me, he is head of the Gallaudet Alumni Association.

Collecting presidencies seems to be that lad's hobby. Would like to visit his trophy room.

We eighty haute monde and boutons assemble at 1:30, remaining two hours and five minutes. I put on my best company manners and endeavor to look very wise and act very high-brow. Always do, when mingling with my betters.

SHILTON'S BRIGHT IDEA

The Royal Gorge over, speeches start. Johnnie Shilton of Canada, graduate of the University of Toronto, suggests extending this Gallaudet College Alumni Association to take in the deaf alumni of hearing colleges and universities, of whom there is an ever increasing number. Shilton's suggestion seems to take well; but if I know those Gallaudet guys, only long years of active propaganda will bring about any change in the set scheme of things as they are.

GOVERNMENT AIDES $160,000

Prof. Harley Drake announces the Department of the Interior is so pleased with our completed $50,000 Edward Miner Gallaudet Memorial Drive, that it will add $160,000 to our fifty grand to erect a new building on the college campus. Striking while the hammer is hot, Drake promptly proceeds to rake in a few added simoleons for the E. M. G. drive fund.

McDERMID SCHOLARSHIP

David Peikoff, '29, popped off on the McDermid Scholarship Fund to send deserving Canadians to Gallaudet. This kid actively circulated his subscription sheet during convention for that laudable cause. Next day Peikoff returned to Canada—the government refusing to extend his admittance any longer. Since graduating from Gallaudet a year ago, Davie took a post-graduate course in journalism in one of the big universities, during which he wrote and sold at least a dozen stories and articles.

HALLOWED TRADITIONS THAT—

Follow other stirring speeches by those great old grads, in a "Here's to good old Yale drink her down" spirit. The alumni seem proud of their little college. Proud of her hoary traditions and hallowed prestige—you know old Joe Long's Gallaudet football team once licked Annapolis some forty years ago. Anxious are they to foster her fame; hopefully they are hoping against hope that the cold-blooded Government may enlarge her sphere and add to the pitiful 150-student limit, which has prevailed for uncounted years.

—ARE JUST TRADITIONS STILL

Unfortunately, with all that hot-air wasted, none thought to ask little me to arise on my hind-hoofs and tell what's-what. I could have pointed out that the only way to enlarge Gallaudet is to do as hearing universities do—raise an alumni athletic-fund to subsidize star athletes. Congress would readily enthrone over a team of deaf footballers that could lick Yale (remember how Congress used to make a pet of Carlisle in the days of Thorpe and Mount Pleasant?)

CRYSTAL BEACH PROGRAM

The college feed adjourned at 3:35, too late for us to make the one-hour steamer-trip to Crystal Beach, Canada—Buffalo's favorite recreation spot—if we care to get back in time for the smoker tonight. Western New York, and New York City, are two of the few spots in the country where the deaf still go in strong for track and field contests.

Pat Norton, Henry Zink, Charlotte Schwagler and others, arranged a printed field day program listing twenty-three individual events, two races for married couples, a tug-of-war, a relay race, a beauty contest and some softball games. Total of twenty-eight events.

Bill Myles gave me his official score-sheets later. Possibly some of the sheets were lost—for I tabulate only fifteen events. More likely the committee found their program too long for the limited time available, due to the late adjournment of the convention. And I suspect a lot of conventioners preferred to watch the bunch of bathing beauties frolicking in the waves across from the cinder track. Anyway, here is Myles' list, with my own tabulation and point-score:—

25-yd. Dash (Children under 6)—1 Guy Winslip, Jamestown, N. Y. 8-sec.; 2 Miss Briel, Buffalo.

50-yd. Dash (Girls under 8)—1 Rita Jerge, Buffalo, 8 1-5 sec.; 2 Lorraine Briel, Buffalo.

75-yd. Dash (Ladies)—1 Carrie Buchan, George, Buffalo, 8-sec.; 2 Ellen Ott, Buffalo.

100-yd. Dash (Men)—1 Joe Bochano-wicz, Buffalo, 11-sec.; 2 Alfred Galinay, New York City; 3 Joe Nash, Buffalo.

75-yd. Dash (Ladies)—1 Carrie Buchan, Toronto, 10 2-5 sec.; 2 Lily Hogle, St. Augustine, Fla.

Married Couples Race—1 Kruzona and Mrs. Rinder (where from?); 2 Horace Perry, Chicago, and Mrs. Charles Smith, Cortland, N. Y.

Shoe Kick—(Men)—1 Walter Krohngold, Akron; 2 Edward Kosinski, Hartford, Ct.

Shoe Kick (Ladies)—1 Ida Albrecht, Toledo, Ohio.

Cigarette Smoking Race—1 Anthony Capone, St. Augustine, Fla.; 2 Joseph Solazzo, Buffalo.

Marshmallow Eating Race—1 Florence McGrain, Sandusky, Ohio; 2 Goldie Aronson, Jersey City, N. J.

Peanut Race (Ladies)—(Declared "no contest" by judges, due to squabble over outcome.)

400-yd. Dash (Men)—1 Joe Bochano-wicz, Buffalo, 59 3-5 sec.; 2 Robert Mahon, Philadelphia.

400-yd. Walk (Married Couples)—1 Maurice G. Fahr and wife, Chicago; 3-min. flat.

Ball Throwing (Ladies)—1 Carrie Buchan, Toronto; 2 Edna Carlson, Chicago; 3 Mrs. Tom Hunt, Buffalo.

Beauty Contest ("Miss NAD")—1 Addie Jones, Akron; 2 Dora Cohen, New York City; 3 Betty Reiser, Pittsburgh.

Field Day Officials. Judges—John F. O'Brien, New York City, and Martin Glynn, New Jersey. Starter—Clement O'Connor, Buffalo. Timer—R. Martina, Buffalo.

Scorer—William Myles, Youngstown, Ohio.

Point tabulation (5 for first, 3 for second, 1 for third.) Buffalo, 34. Akron and Toronto (Canada) tied for second, 10. Chicago, 9 1-2. St. Augustine, 8. New York City, 6. Jamestown, Toledo and Sandusky, 5 points each. Hartford, Jersey City and Philadelphia, 3 points each. Cortland, 1 1-2.

Individual all-around champions were Joe Bochano-wicz, of Buffalo, and Carrie Buchan, of Toronto, who captured all the points Canada gathered.

"PICK A PEACH BY HER PHIZ"

Thirty to forty virgins entered the "Beauty Contest." Instead of parading in daring bathing suits to posture coquettishly before near-expert judges—those dear local committee ladies announced judging would be on a basis of face only. The howling mob itself selected winners by an elimination process of Chautauqua applause. Hail to the Queen! The winner is a blonde pupil in the Ohio school, one of three deaf sisters; age 16; height about 5:5; weight some 188; smooth complexion; pleasant disposition.

"GIB'S MEMORIAL SMOKER"

Nearing eight that night, Frederick Menken, president of Chi-first Frat division, loaded up a "press express" taxi with handsome young pencil-pushers like me and Hodgson and W. A. Renner and Anthony Capelle. We dash through the rain to be on time. Almost the first to arrive. Buffalo plays the perfect host and delays well over an hour to allow the gang to get back from Crystal Beach.

Now I had long boosted this smoker. I had high hopes. It was the first Frat smoker our Canadian comrades ever had a hand in—as Toronto, Rochester, Syracuse and Utica divisions made cash donations to insure its success. The Buffalo convention itself had proved so gloriously rearranged, that we naturally expected the brotherhood to stage something epochal—like Omaha '15, and Washington '26.

Well, all things are relative. Comparisons are odious. Those Buffalo boys tried, no doubt. Its true that hell is paved with good intentions. The less said about the smoker, the better.

The life-size photo of Gibson—by Pach — was ceremoniously unveiled. Due honor was paid our masterly Miracle Man — particularly by Bobs and Pach. Others spoke.
